It is fun to make new friends and do new things.

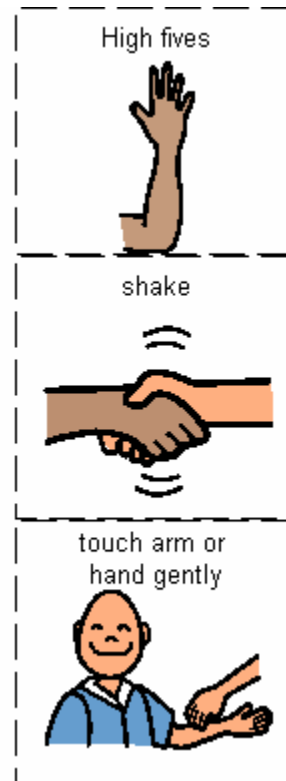

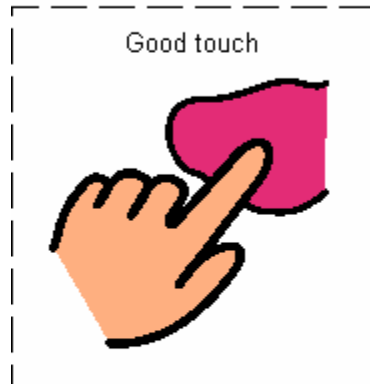

There are lots of ways to show other people
I want to be their friend.

When I touch people too much, it can make them feel nervous.

It might even make them feel tired.

Some good ways to touch people are high fives, shaking hands, or gently touching their hand or arm.

I will try to touch other people appropriately.
That way everyone at camp can feel safe and happy.

I like being at camp with my new friends!
